BECOME A MEMBER TODAY!

Science & Technology Section

STs

ACRL
Association of College & Research Libraries
A division of the American Library Association
What is STS?

Since 1961, the Science and Technology Section of ACRL has encouraged the success of sci/tech librarianship. We maintain a forum for science and technology librarians to keep current, share information, collaborate, and network with one another.

Why should I join?

- Connect with colleagues, friends, and experts
- Learn (and share) new skills
- Take advantage of professional development opportunities
- Fulfill service requirements by volunteering on an STS committee!

How to get involved

It's easy! Visit the ACRL-STS webpage or contact the STS Membership & Recruitment Committee directly. Use the volunteer form linked from the Committees page to learn more and sign up.